AI Day 2026 HYBRID

Course code: AID26

The first edition of the AI Day conference will take place on February 11, 2026, in a hybrid format. The conference will be held in person in Bratislava and will also be available to watch online.AI Day is for everyone who wants to work effectively with AI – from managers to administrative staff. No technical background is required, just the willingness to learn tools that save time and advance your career.

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

We will bring you an overview of real successful implementations, current trends, practical tool demonstrations, and recommendations on how to use AI safely, effectively, and clearly across various fields.

The conference is intended for everyone who wants to understand how AI truly helps in work and business, including:

- Business managers and team leaders
- Product managers
- Marketing and CRM specialists
- HR professionals
- Financial and data analysts

All participants will automatically receive 10-day access to the lecture archive.
